

I have become aware of an unprecedented attempt to use public airwaves in a way that clearly abuse the doctrine of equal time. Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election would be direct electioneering by a corporate media giant -- and against federal election law.

This is a clear example of the use of the public airwaves to put forth a one sided political agenda. These airwaves are provided free of charge, and should serve both sides of any question equally.

Thank you for your consideration.
